EXHIBIT A - ICE DATA PRICING & REFERENCE DATA, LLC ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Subscriber's use of data provided by ICE Data's affiliate, ICE Data Pricing & Reference Data, LLC ("ID PRD") is subject to the following terms and conditions, in addition to and with precedence over any other applicable provisions of the Agreement:

1. In the event that Subscriber at any time receives data from ID PRD containing evaluations, rather than market quotations, for certain securities or certain other data related to such securities, the following provisions will apply: (i) Evaluated securities are typically complicated financial instruments. There are many methodologies (including computer-based analytical modeling and individual security evaluations) available to generate approximations of the market value of such securities, and there is significant professional disagreement about which is best. No evaluation method, including those used by ID PRD, may consistently generate approximations that correspond to actual "traded" prices of the instruments; (ii) ID PRD's methodologies used to provide the pricing portion of certain data may rely on evaluations; however, Subscriber acknowledges that there may be errors or defects in ID PRD's software, databases, or methodologies that may cause resultant evaluations to be inappropriate for use in certain applications; and (iii) Subscriber assumes all responsibility for edit checking, external verification of evaluations, and ultimately the appropriateness of use by Subscriber of evaluations and other Constituent Data provided by ICE Data, regardless of any efforts made by ID PRD in this respect.
